

Lam Announces Earnings for the Quarter Ended December 29, 2002

FREMONT, Calif., January 22, 2003—Lam Research Corporation (Nasdaq: LRCX) today announced earnings for the quarter ended December 29, 2002. Revenue was $184.6 million, and net income was $1.5 million, or $0.01 per diluted share, including net restructuring charges of $1.8 million associated with the Company's strategy of reducing its fixed-cost infrastructure. This compares to revenue of $197.5 million and net losses of $13.7 million, or $0.11 per diluted share for the September 2002 quarter, which included losses of $16.4 million on equity derivative contracts in Lam stock.

New orders of $163 million decreased approximately 12 percent sequentially. Regional distribution of new orders was North America, 23 percent; Europe, 21 percent; Japan, 7 percent; and Asia Pacific, 49 percent.

Geographical breakdown of revenue for the quarter was North America, 31 percent; Europe, 16 percent; Japan, 7 percent; and Asia Pacific, 46 percent. Production output for the period was approximately $152 million.

Gross margin for the December 2002 quarter was $72.5 million or 39.3 percent of revenue. Excluding the restructuring reserve recovery, gross margin for the December 2002 quarter was $72.2 million or 39.1 percent of revenue. Operating Expenses, excluding restructuring items, were $71.5 million compared to $74.7 million in the September 2002 quarter, reflecting sustained investment in engineering and technology programs as well as the impact of cost management activities.

Cash, Short-term Investments, and Restricted Cash rose to $613.9 million at the end of the quarter, a sequential increase of $11.6 million generated from operations.

"Our successful implementation of expense controls and reduction of our fixed-cost infrastructure supported our ability to generate earnings this quarter, despite current market conditions. We maintained our investment levels in key research and development projects, ensuring our continued technology leadership position for next-generation processes," stated James W. Bagley, chairman and chief executive officer.

"Although end-market demand remains uncertain, customers are making technology buys to produce a wide range of devices. We expect this to result in a modest increase in March quarter orders," Bagley concluded.
